German Courses

In cooperation with the Goethe Institute and the University's Language Centre (FZHB), as well as the U Bremen Research Alliance institutes, the Welcome Center offers German language courses exclusively for international researchers. The fee for the University researchers, employees and doctoral candidates is 40€. More information and the registration can be found here. All courses will start in October.

Data Train Operator Track

A team of enthusiastic lecturers from member institutions of the U Bremen Research Alliance voluntarily created the Data Train curriculum. The training is targeted at doctoral researchers and open to everyone interested in strengthening their data skills.

This operator track focuses on effective data management – a core skill for your research, studies and preparing data for machine learning and AI methods. Find all courses here.
